SMBW Announces that Lisa Clark has been hired on the Architecture team at SMBW

Richmond, VA – SMBW, PLLC, an interdisciplinary design studio for architecture, landscape architecture, interior design, and urban planning founded and operating in Richmond, is proud to announce that Lisa Clark has joined the Architecture team at SMBW.

Clark, of Richmond, VA, earned her Bachelor of Science in Architecture from the University of Cincinnati in 2010 and has been a practicing Architectural Designer for eight years, first at SOM in Washington, DC and most recently at 3north in Richmond, VA.

Clark’s architectural design experience spans market segments including mixed-use, higher education, and cultural facilities with tangible community impact. Clark has steered diverse commercial projects from conceptual design through construction administration as project designer and worked to collect a broad wealth of knowledge across trades to make her an adept designer and project coordinator. Her experience in mixed-use arena brings great value to SMBW, as an emerging design leader in the mixed-use market.

Spencer Grice, Architectural Principal and Design Director, says, “Lisa brings a diverse skillset and a plethora of project experience to our Architecture team. Her ability to both lead and produce on design projects gives us flexibility in structuring projects teams and positions us to take on larger architectural projects in our studio. Lisa’s strong design vision on past projects makes her a great addition to the SMBW team.”

Requests for additional information or interviews should be forwarded to SMBW Market Manager Erin Rowe at erowe@smbw.com.
